

AS THE MODE DICTATES

Scattered among many new and old-fashioned suits we see some tried, old-fashioned suits of navy blue, brown, and black. Here is one of them, being up to the dictates of the mode as to silhouette, length of coat and skirt and gaining new interest by the use of a novel trimming of loose stripes made of the material. Bands of silk and about the waist, pass under these stripes and six half buttons close to fasten and adorn the coat.

Congress Goes to Aid of Agricultural Industry

List of More Important Measures Written, Introduced and Passed by Republicans To Assist Farmers During Crisis

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE J. N. TINCHER (KAN-SAS), MEMBER HOUSE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE

Farmers of the United States not only comprise the largest single class of producers but they are the largest single class of consumers of finished products of all kinds, and the largest class of shippers. In view of all this, it is essential, in order that the country as a whole be prosperous, that the farmer as a class be prosperous.

When the Republican Party came into power in March, 1921, the agricultural sections of the country were in the midst of the greatest depression they had ever experienced.

In response to a general demand from the agricultural interests the Republican Congress, on May 27, 1921, 40 days after the session convened, enacted the Emergency, or Farmers' Relief, bill. This stopped at once the influx of agricultural imports and saved to the American farmer producer his home markets.

The best proof that the tariff really protects the American farmer is the fact that since its operation Canada has renewed her efforts to negotiate a reciprocity treaty that will admit her agricultural products into this country free. As a further proof of the effectiveness of this tariff it was renewed November 16, 1921, by the solid vote of the congressmen representing the agricultural States. The enactment of this tariff was opposed by the solid Democratic minority in both House and Senate, with a few notable exceptions.

For more than a quarter of a century there has been a demand from the producers and consumers for control of the packing and allied industries. Responsive to this demand Congress enacted such a law. It cannot be gainsaid that the livestock industry of the United States has had better treatment from the very day that this law began to operate. This bill was drawn by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans, and passed by both branches of Congress controlled by Republicans.

For more than 40 years there has been pending before Congress, in one form or another, legislation to control grain exchanges and to stop the manipulation of prices of farm products. Such a law has been enacted by this Republican Congress. Like the packer control law, it was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

One of the immediate and urgent needs of the farming communities was credit to tide them over their immediate crisis. In order to furnish this credit the Republican Congress amended the War Finance Corporation Act so as to enable that organization to have a revolving fund of $1,000,000,000 to be used exclusively in making loans to livestock and agricultural interests. Since that body began functioning under its newly acquired powers it has been loaning money to the agricultural and livestock interests of the United States at a rate in excess of $1,000,000 a day.

One of the earliest acts of this Congress was the appropriation of $2,000,000 to be used in the purchase of seed for the drought-stricken farmers of the northwest. Since that time legislation and appropriations have been made to assist drought-stricken farmers in other sections of the country, and also to relieve the settlers upon reclamation and irrigation projects.

Still another act of this Congress was the increase of the available capital of the Farm Loan Banks in the sum of $25,000,000, giving the Farm Loan Banks a total revolving fund of $56,000,000. This bill was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans, and passed by Republican majorities in both branches of Congress.

Modern methods in the commercial world have demonstrated the necessity of the farmer's being permitted to sell his crops under a co-operative system, and that this might be done legally and without interference or litigation, the present Congress enacted the Cooperative Marketing Bill. This is another bill written by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

Honorable Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, truly summed it up when he said:

"Never in the same length of time did Congress give more serious attention to farm needs. All of the legislation is of a constructive character and will be more helpful than is now realized."

FARMERS HAVE SCHEME FORCE HIGHER PRICES

Would Sell Surplus Products Foreign Countries as Means of Genuine Protection.

(By Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 28.—Sale of surplus agricultural products to foreign countries was suggested as a means of bringing higher prices to farmers by Carl Vrooman, former assistant secretary of agriculture, in an address here yesterday before the convention of the Mississippi Valley Association.

The speaker urged his auditors to "find foreign markets for the farmers' surplus" crops by the skillful use of credits.

"The splendid and almost instantaneous rise in the price of corn and wheat," Mr. Vrooman asserted, "resulting from our gift of $20,000,000 worth of grain to Russia shows unmistakably how nearly the bill factors have come to overcoming the bear factors in our terminal markets and hence, how easy it would have been at any time during the past year to raise the price of our farm products up to the cost of production, by selling, not all, but a reasonable percentage of our supplies abroad on credits."

"If everybody in the corn belt would boost corn, as every man, woman and child in the south boosts cotton, we long since would have found a way to dig ourselves out of the hole we are in. Even the boll-evil is said to have put his shoulder to the wheel in the south last year and by reducing the surplus to have done more than any other single agency to help boost the price of cotton."

As an illustration of the way the "south pulls together" Mr. Vrooman cited the operation of the Edge bank law, which helps to finance the exportation of cotton on credit. "I am told that over fifteen hundred banks throughout the southern states in addition to numerous business men and farmers, took stock in this New Orleans Export Bank, because they realized that unless this surplus cotton could be gotten rid of in foreign markets, the south was headed for the financial rocks," he said.

The Wilson regime made its mark in American history—but it was a long black mark.

No Danger Grape Crop Being Any Too Large

(By Associated Press) LODI, April 28.—Although at least 74,000 acres of grapes are being planted in California this year, there is no danger of overproduction, according to officials of the viticulture division of the state department of agriculture here recently.

Egyptian Architecture.
In the furniture world the massive and stability of the Egyptian furniture as dug from out century-old ruins is as well known as the time-defying pyramids and sphinx are to every school child. Art critics are quite agreed that the old Greek-Roman houses were the most perfect in line, harmony and utility of any ancient dwellings. But they are equally agreed that the Egyptian architecture runs a close second.

KEEN RIVALRY DEVELOPING IN SHIPPING TRADE

Dismembered Hapsburg Empire Striving for Predominance of the Foreign Trade.

(By Associated Press) PRAGUE, April 5.—(By Mail)—Keen rivalry for predominance in the Danube shipping is developing among the three land locked fragments of the dismembered Hapsburg empire—Austria, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. The Danube river is their sea, and port facilities mean traffic and national income. Hence, one form of their competition is to build up their respective ports—Vienna, Pressburg (now called Bratislava) and Budapest, situated close to each other on a bend of the river.

With the prospect of a connecting canal system between the Danube and the Rhine through Bavarian enterprise, the Danube is coming to be regarded here as the greatest artery of trade in Europe of tomorrow and the British were aware of this when they founded their River Syndicate.

The first struggle between the three ports was to get the allies' Danube commission. Bratislava won, but the terms was fixed for five years and the commission will not go where the biggest traffic is. This is spurring the Czechs to increase the traffic capacity of Bratislava to one million tons this year and ultimate plans call for a capacity of 3,000,000 tons.

The struggle for trade thus far is mostly between Bratislava and Budapest with Vienna lagging. Hungary has granted a contract to a French firm to construct a first class port at Budapest and the Czechs are preparing to answer this by equipping Bratislava at a cost to the government of 228,000,000 Czech crowns. Czechoslovakia also proposes to build a subsidiary port at Komarno. This work is to be completed in three years.

A private company has been organized to take over the shipping under the Czech flag on the Danube and Czechoslovakia means to keep the Danube commission at Bratislava.

SINKING MARKS OPERATIONS AT GREAT DIVIDE

Main Shaft Near Fourteen Hundred Level With no Indications of Water Level.

There has been a hum of activity at the Tonopah Divide mine during the last week, a total of 1354 feet of underground work having been performed, with 20 feet of shaft sinking. The usual production of about 50 tons of ore was made daily, the product being delivered at the Tonopah Belmont mill, with the usual values being contained.

In view of the fact that the main shaft has practically attained a depth of 1400 feet, and the cutting of a station will shortly be in order preparatory to resuming sinking, which will be continued until the water level is reached, which is believed will result in the sulphide zone being penetrated.

The following official report covering the seven-day period ending Thursday, April 27, follows: "215 intermediate east drift advanced 14 feet; 230 west drift advanced 24 feet; 215 intermediate north crosscut advanced 9.4 feet; 307 south crosscut advanced 17 feet; 1017 north crosscut advanced 8 feet; 1017 south crosscut advanced 21.7 feet; 217 raise carried 4.5 feet; 527 raise carried 10 feet; main shaft sunk 20 feet."

FOREIGN TRADE CONVENTION TO MEET MAY 10TH

Will Discuss Many Problems Such as Foreign Loans and Methods to Follow.

(By Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—The purpose this year, of the Ninth National Foreign Trade convention, to be held here May 10 to 12, will be the placing of American prosperity on a permanent basis by stimulating and expanding the country's foreign trade, announcement has been made by officials in charge of the program. One important policy to be advocated, they said, is that so far as possible, foreign loans shall be conditional upon all or a great part of their proceeds being spent for the purchase of American goods.

Indications are that delegates of manufacturers, bankers, shippers and business men, who will attend the meeting, will number more than 2000. A large number of these are expected from foreign countries, as well as from all parts of the United States.

Among the speakers are James H. Harbo, chairman, during the war, of the United States grain corporation, and Charles M. Alving, vice-president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, who will discuss the practical method for putting surplus goods to work and that of Mr. Alving will be on the basis of depreciated currency in competition.

William J. Connelley, of Philadelphia, a recognized expert on maritime law, has been selected to discuss the merchant marine as an international problem, and the European exchange situation will be handled by Fred I. Kent, vice-president of the Bankers' Trust company, New York. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, will outline a foreign trade policy for Americans.

The delegates are thoroughly disgusted with the republican tariff bill. Well, we didn't expect a delegate to be satisfied with anything that tends to help the American farmer.
